Introduction

In this book "rhythm groups", consisting of a specific number of attacks per measure, are presented with all possible combinations of time durations. Two types of notation are shown with picking (which applies to both) indicated along the top stave of each system. These picking indicators are very important. I strongly recommend, when learning to read syncopated rhythms, that you pick the string in the same direction in which the tapping foot is moving at that instant.... DOWN on the beat and UP for the off beats (or "ands").

This concerted movement of (picking) hand and (time keeping) foot is a valuable aid in learning to read, and properly execute, these swing rhythms. It is also good discipline for practicing them later on.

The original "Studies"(or songs) that follow the presentation of each "rhythm group" have been especially composed to employ all of the rhythms of that group. Count out all difficult phrases, as you play them, until you can "feel" the time. As all the "Studies" have chord symbols it would be helpful to practice them as duets with another player or with yourself by tape recording the rhythm guitar parts.

After these rhythms have been mastered you will be able to vary your picking (for the purpose of phrasing and accents) and still be consistent and accurate.

FOUR-FOUR

TAP FOOT IN 4 THRU-OUT AND PRACTICE RHYTHM GROUPS AS FOLLOWS:

- (1) PLAY MEASURE ONE FOLLOWED BY FOUR BEATS REST. THEN PLAY MEASURE TWO FOLLOWED BY FOUR BEATS REST. ETC. (NO REPEATS)
- (2) OMIT MEASURES OF RESTS BUT USE REPEATS. (PLAY EACH MEASURE TWICE)
- (3) PLAY STRAIGHT THRU - NO REPEATS, NO MEASURE OF RESTS.
